

The Roxtec Sealing System

ROXTEC

Jo-Kell is the only distributor you need when it comes to Roxtec products and accessories. Roxtec modules are perfect for any industrial or commercial marine application. Roxtec modules consist of two halves made of an EPDM-based rubber and have removable layers and center core, all which feature Roxtec's unique, multidiameter technology. With this feature one single module can seal cables and pipes of various diameters simply by peeling away layers from the module halves until a perfect fit is achieved!

Call your Jo-Kell Representative today for more information about Roxtec products and accessories!